

Are you ready to make a difference through a nursing career? Achieve your Associate of Applied Science (AAS) in nursing degree through Lincoln University School of Nursing at Fort Leonard Wood. Our part-time, evening program is tailored to meet the needs of local, active-duty military personnel and their dependents.

An AAS degree will help you explore specializations within nursing. Guided by our expert, caring faculty, you'll learn policies and procedures for nursing care in diverse settings. You'll develop the competencies essential to the practice of AAS nursing, plus have a foundation for continued studies in nursing. Our graduates are often employed in hospitals, clinics, nursing homes, physician offices and more.

What to Expect

The LU School of Nursing at Fort Leonard Wood curriculum consists of seven sequential, nursing courses, with structured classroom and laboratory experiences.

You'll spend ...

- 4 to 6 hours per week in the formal classroom (evening courses)
- 12 hours per week in clinical and/or college laboratories

You'll gain hands-on experiences at a variety of healthcare settings, such as hospitals, nursing homes, and clinics in Rolla, Lebanon and Waynesville areas.

Dream of becoming an RN?

By completing your AAS degree with Lincoln, you will be eligible to take the National Council Licensing Examination for Registered Nurses. Satisfactory performance on this exam will qualify you for licensure as a registered nurse.

Lincoln's AAS and BSN program options are accredited by the Accreditation Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN) and are approved by the Missouri State Board of Nursing.
